

The Chamber: An Economic Development Resource for Manufacturers

Did you know that the Chamber of Commerce has a dedicated Director of Economic Development on staff? Elizabeth Butler has recently joined the Chamber team this past November, focusing on both Economic Development and Strategic Directions. She has spent 20-years in Grand Haven's Manufacturing sector, specifically working in the area of finance.

You can take advantage of Elizabeth's services at no cost to you. At a minimum, she would like to meet each company annually to understand their processes and challenges. It's also an opportunity to get connected with state and local resources that you may not have easy access to on your own. So, watch for those emails or phone calls from the Chamber – it's a benefit to all area manufacturers.

Below is a list of reasons why it's important for manufacturers to be members of the Chamber:
